Biographical/Historical note

---

Edwin Warriner was born on January 19, 1839, in Ellisburg, NY. He was born into a religious family; his father, Solomon J. Warriner, was a farmer and local Methodist preacher. By the time he was fifteen, Warriner was teaching public school and had obtained a license to be a Methodist preacher. He went on to study theology at the Biblical Institute of Concord, New Hampshire, from which he graduated in 1861. Warriner then began his career in the ministry in South Meriden, Connecticut. At the beginning of the Civil War, a regiment of soldiers was garrisoned there and he began to minister to them. Warriner was appointed as chaplain to the regiment and traveled with them for three years during the war. Afterwards, he settled in Brooklyn as a Methodist minister.

By 1880, Warriner was Secretary of the New York East Conference Historical Society. His two published books, The Old Sands Street Methodist Episcopal Church of Brooklyn, NY, published in 1885, and The Warriner Family of New England Origin, a history of his family from 1628 to 1898, show his passion for both history and genealogy. Warriner died in 1898, shortly after finishing the Warriner Family manuscript, which was published a year later. Warriner's purpose in collecting the documents forming most of this collection was to write an encyclopedia of Methodism on Long Island. He died before producing a written manuscript based on his research. The bulk of the letters in this collection, in which Warriner asks for information about a certain church or reverend, dates from the 1870s-1890s, indicating that he had been collecting information about Methodism on Long Island for the last 30 years of his life.

Scope and Contents

The bulk of the collection includes the research notes and related materials gathered by Reverend Edwin Warriner during the last decades of the nineteenth century in preparation for a planned, but never completed, encyclopedia of Methodism on Long Island, New York. Warriner's handwritten notes concern Methodist ministers, churches, circuits, and locales throughout Long Island. African Methodist Episcopal (AME), German and Norwegian churches are included. Warriner's files include correspondence in response to his inquiries for information; transcriptions of church records, histories and other documents; draft manuscript entries; newspaper clippings; and photographs, such as cabinet cards, cartes-de-visite, and tintypes. Warriner's files also include some original documents dating from as early as 1791.

The collection also includes printed material dating from the twentieth century that was added to the Warriner files by the Methodist Historical Society and donated with the collection to the Long Island Historical Society (now Brooklyn Historical Society). This material consists mostly of special anniversary publications and other such documents that include historical notes on various Methodist churches.

Arrangement note

The collection is organized in the following three series:

- 1 Notes and Ephemera
- 2 Photographs and Other Images
- 3 Later Additions to the Collection

Administrative Information

Publication Information

Brooklyn Historical Society May 2009

Conditions Governing Access

The donor of the collection restricted its use to research in biography and church history. Nonetheless, to ensure against unwarranted denial of access to the collection, Brooklyn Historical Society interprets the scope of these subject areas broadly.

Conditions Governing Use note

The donor of the collection applied a restriction that the collection was not to be copied in its entirety, except by Brooklyn Historical Society, if necessary for preservation.

Immediate Source of Acquisition note

In 1955, the collection was initially placed in "permanent custody" with the Long Island Historical Society (now the Brooklyn Historical Society) by the New York East Annual Conference of the Methodist Church, through Reverend Robert H. Dolliver, Secretary of the Methodist Historical Society in the City of New York. Extant records suggest that, in 1958, the Conference agreed to change the status of the collection, making it a gift to the Brooklyn Historical Society.

Processing Information note

The collection was processed in May 2009 by Amanda Farley, under the supervision of Chela Scott Weber. At that time, the collection's arrangement was returned to its original order, following Warriner's numeric sequencing, which had been disturbed over time. Also, photographs and other images previously separated from the collection were returned and now form Series 2. In 2011, Larry Weimer updated the collection description, principally to accommodate input to a collection management system, Archivists' Toolkit.

1. Notes and Ephemera 1791-1940, 5.42 Linear feet

Scope and Contents

This series includes Warriner's handwritten notes on Methodist ministers, churches, circuits, and locales throughout Long Island, New York. African Methodist Episcopal (AME), German and Norwegian churches are included.

The extent of material concerning each subject is uneven. In many instances, a subject file contains only minor notations or only a cross-reference to another subject file where relevant material can be found. Other files contain more extensive materials. Overall, the series includes correspondence responding to Warriner's inquiries for information; research notes; Warriner's transcriptions of church records, histories, and other documents; draft entries, likely for the intended encyclopedia; newspaper clippings, including published images and death notices; and programs and similar ephemera.

The bulk of these documents date from the 1880s and the years immediately prior and subsequent. Although the notes date from the late nineteenth century, the date range of transcriptions and the subject matter spans the century from the late eighteenth to late nineteenth century. Also, there are a few original documents from as early as 1791, including two appointments signed by Francis Asbury and church building subscription books, among other items. These original documents are noted in the container list.

Arrangement note

The series is in Warriner's original order, which is alphabetical by subject. Warriner assigned a numeric sequencing to the subjects; where known, this number is indicated in the container list in parentheses after the subject name.

Because the bulk of the documents date from the 1880s, and many files contain undated material, a date range is not noted for each file. Where an original document from a period earlier than Warriner's research was identified during processing, that is noted in the container list.
